DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: 108, 110, 206 and 214.

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference character(s) not mentioned in the description: 107, 120, 122, 114, 126, 118, 124, 207, 206, 224, 222, 200, 302, 304, 316, 307, 326, 306, 318, 324, 400, 406, 407, 426 and 540. Furthermore, none of the reference numerals of figures 6, 7 and 8 are shown.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d), or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(b) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 to 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claim 1, for example, recites “wherein the electrical system is configured to charge a removable battery received in the docking station, if a removable battery is present and the electrical supply connection device is supplying electricity to the motor.” However, there is no description of structure which would enable this to occur. Referring to figure 4, it can be seen that if the selector switch 430 is in the dashed line position, then the motor 414 is supplied with electricity from the AC electrical supply 432. Switching selector switch 430 to the dashed line position also opens the circuit to the battery 418 and therefore prevents charging of the battery. There is no description of a circuit which simultaneously supplies the motor and the battery with rectified current from a conventional AC source. This lack of an enabling disclosure would impose an undue burden on one of ordinary skill in the art to make and use the invention.

It is also noted that battery docking station 420 is shown as being connected directly to AC voltage. This would not charge the battery and possibly cause failure of the battery due to the higher AC voltage.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 to 44 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Due to the basis of the claims on a non-enabling disclosure, the scope of the claims cannot be ascertained which renders the claims as indefinite.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The prior art could not be applied to the claims due to their indefiniteness and basis on a non-enabling disclosure.
